Finally the long wait has ended.

After having the crashed database we couldn't revive the old site no more, and seeing most of the content gone away too, we decided to do a huge makeover here at flashscene.org. We changed to CMS that supports our needs a bit more, got a new awesome design from Malakai and we are planning on creating a lot of more content (as well as write the old ones again).

We are also planning on having a new contest (one which was planned to be started in August already, but was moved for obvious reasons). About this more in the future.

Stay tuned for more!
